Compact SunPatiens® Series

In the garden center, SunPatiens® offer instant sales appeal: big eye-catching flowers, dark green foliage, excellent shelf life and highly attractive colors. The good petal quality and lower shrink means a longer shelf life in your store.

For your commercial landscape customers, SunPatiens® are workhorse products that thrive from spring to frost. Like all impatiens, they need water and fertilizer, but no other special care. SunPatiens® bring that “wow factor” to landscapes, but just as importantly they have a practical side for you. The abundance of flowers from spring through hard frost ensure full and decorative coverage of the flower bed, with fewer plants required per square unit of garden space or container. The thicker petals and foliage are less prone to disease and damage throughout the year.

SunPatiens® are perfect for mixed container and basket production, outstanding in gardens and landscapes, and with shorter internodes and excellent branching, they also show well at retail.
